

North Carolina Court Interpreter Administration of Written Screening Tests

Due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, the administration of the written screening tests had to be postponed from April 2020 through April 2021. Only candidates who have attended the 2-day N.C. Court Interpreter Orientation Session are eligible to sit for the written screening tests. Preference for test space will be given first to those candidates who attended orientation via Zoom during the June 2020, September 2020, January 2021, and April 2021 sessions.

These standalone test dates will depend upon the successful anticipated reopening of the NCJC to the public by June 1, 2021.

Space is limited to 12 attendees for each test date:

Where: North Carolina Judicial Center, 901 Corporate Center Drive, Raleigh, NC 27607

Dates: June 2, 3, 4, 9, 10, 11, 15, 16, 17

Time: 9:00 AM – 1:00 PM

Candidates need only attend one of the test days.

Registration Deadline: Friday, May 21, 2021.

Overviews of the Written Screening Tests: Candidates are encouraged to review the following documents:

- Overview of the Written Non-English Language Proficiency Screening Test

If you attended one of the remote orientation sessions, but are unable to attend any of the standalone test dates above, you will still be eligible to register and sit for a future written screening test administration as announced in the future.

If you require overnight accommodations for the night before the examination day:

Accommodations: Lodging is at candidate's expense. For links to nearby hotels, click on each name:
